

The Whole World

OPENING POEM

Seol Jeong Sunim

In stillness, not one thought—not even a speck of dust.
An iron gate is opened on a moonlit night.
Today's Whole World is a Single Flower gathering has only one Way:
Spring comes... its bright light brings the flowers to bloom.

10]